

Dr Matthew Croucher

Psychiatrist

CDHB, University of Otago, Christchurch

Friday, August 12, 2016

(Plenary)

9:00 - 9:25 Don't Bother Diagnosing Dementia - There's Nothing You Can Do and It Just Upsets People

Don't bother diagnosing dementia
– there's nothing you can do and
it just upsets people.

Dr Matthew Croucher
CDHB / Otago School of Medicine

Don't bother diagnosing dementia
– there's nothing you can do and
it just upsets people.

Don't bother diagnosing dementia
– there's nothing you can do and
it just upsets people.

Don't bother diagnosing dementia
– there's nothing you can do and it just upsets people.

Don't bother diagnosing dementia
– there's nothing you can do and
it just upsets people.

??

Dementia fits in primary care – there's a lot you can do and it can be a good experience for people.

Cognitive impairment pathways

HealthPathways
COMMUNITY

mapofmedicine[®]

Workshops x2 this afternoon:
Assessment and management of dementia in primary care

